Inventory of relevant inward and outward mobility programmes exists in the EU, EU MS, AC and Russia

The inventory presents the list of the current academic mobility programmes, supported by the European Commission, European non-governmental organisations, EU MS, AC, by the Government of the Russian Federation, by private funds in Russia and, by the international organisations. The list also covers mechanisms for academic mobility support, identified on the results of ERA.Net RUS<sup>1</sup> questionnaire.

Title	Abstract
Academic mobility programmes supported by the European Commission
Specific Programme “People” of the 7-th Framework Programme (2007 – 2013) <sup>2</sup>	The Specific Programme aims to strengthen, quantitatively and qualitatively, the human potential in research and technology in Europe, by stimulating people to take up the profession of a researcher, encouraging European researchers to stay in Europe, and attracting to Europe the best researchers from the entire world. It is implemented by systematic investments in people, mainly through a coherent set of Marie Curie Actions, particularly taking into account the European added value in terms of their structuring effect on the European Research Area.
Youth in Action - Mobilising the Potential of Young Europeans (2007 – 2013) <sup>3</sup>	The Program promotes mobility within and beyond the EU borders, non-formal learning and intercultural dialogue, and encourages the inclusion of all young people, regardless of their educational, social and cultural background.
Erasmus Mundus (2009-2013) <sup>4</sup>	Erasmus Mundus (2009-2013) is a cooperation and mobility programme in the field of higher education that aims to enhance the quality of European higher education and to promote dialogue and understanding between people and cultures through cooperation with Third Countries. In addition, it contributes to the development of human resources and the international cooperation capacity of higher education institutions in Third Countries by increasing mobility between the European Union and these countries.
TEMPUS IV (Trans-European Mobility Partnership Scheme for University Studies) <sup>5</sup>	Tempus is the European Union’s programme, which supports the modernization of higher education in the Partner Countries of Eastern Europe, Central Asia, the Western Balkans and the Mediterranean region, mainly through university cooperation projects.
Academic mobility programmes, supported by EU non-governmental organizations
European University Institute - Jean Monnet Fellowship (JMF) <sup>6</sup>	Through its JMF Programme the Robert Schuman Centre for Advanced Studies offers yearly between 15 and 20 fellowships to post-docs in an early stage of their academic career. During their stay at the RSCAS, fellows work on a selected topic that fits well in the overall research profile of the RSCAS and they are expected to participate actively in the academic life of the Centre and of the EUI.

Masters Programme "Studies in European Societies" <sup>7</sup>	The programme is designed for highly motivated students who want to pursue a career in the developing European-Russian relations and get executive positions in political agencies, non-profit organisations or private businesses, whether on the local, national or international level. It equips future decision makers with the scientific knowledge and practical experience they will need to advance European-Russian relations. The program is supported by the Centre for German and European Studies and co-financed by the German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD).
Academic mobility programmes, supported at the international level
International Science and Technology Center (ISTC) <sup>8</sup>	ISTC is an intergovernmental organization connecting scientists from Russia, Georgia and other countries of the Commonwealth of Independent States (CIS) with their peers and research organizations in Canada, EU, Japan, Republic of Korea, Norway and the United States. ISTC facilitates international science projects and assists the global scientific and business community to source and engage with Russian and CIS institutes that develop or possess an excellence of scientific know-how. The ISTC is also a technology matchmaker between Russian R&D institutes and western companies and a tool to integrate Russian scientists into the international research community through supporting mobility (short term mobility).
COST Programme (established in 1991) <sup>9</sup>	European Cooperation in the field of Scientific and Technical research – is one of the longest-running instruments supporting cooperation among scientists and researchers across Europe. It contributes to reducing the fragmentation in European research investments and opening the European Research Area to cooperation worldwide. It also increases the mobility of researchers across Europe and fosters the establishment of scientific excellence in the nine key domains.
National instruments for academic mobility supported by the Russian Federation
Federal Targeted Programme «Scientific & Scientific-Pedagogical Human Resources for Innovative Russia in 2009-2013» <sup>10</sup>	It is running to attract and retain talented people, especially the young, in science, education and high-tech. The programme is designed to tackle the problem of the Russian ageing scientific personnel. More than 50% of funds shall be invested in research projects, which need to involve a certain quantity of young scientists and students or which are performed by young scientists. Another important part of the programme budget is intended to upgrade housing

	infrastructure for students and scientists. For international cooperation the following measures are supported: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Invitation of the Russian researchers resident abroad to chair research projects in Russia;</li> <li>• Organisation of international scientific conferences and schools with engaging of leading foreign scientists;</li> <li>• Organisation of international competition for Russian young talented researchers.</li> </ul>
Attracting Leading Scientists to Russian Universities (Mega-grants)	This is a support of scientific research activities implemented under the supervision of leading scientists at Russian institutions of higher education. Any Russian university eligible to apply for call for proposals jointly with the scientist. Scientists of all nationalities and countries of residence are eligible to apply. Research projects are implemented by university research teams under the supervision of leading scientists in the research areas determined by the Grants Council of the Government of the Russian Federation.
National Research Universities (NRU) <sup>11</sup>	NRU are the best field-specific universities performing world-class basic and applied research, which provide training to high quality human resources for priority S&T areas, economy and social sector. The state funding allows for modernization of facilities and infrastructure, retraining of specialists and integration into international research and education space. NRUs implement their own mobility programmes, which fit national priorities, their programmes of development. Mobility programmes, especially inward mobility (invitation of foreign professors and researchers to Russia) is an important requirement for NRUs.
Federal Universities (FU) <sup>12</sup>	Creation of FU aims to establish top level university centers. Implementation of basic and applied research in national priority areas, creating conditions for academic mobility of students, teachers and researchers, enhancement of international cooperation with universities of Europe, Asia and US, achievement of international recognition of realized educational programmes and integration of university into the worldwide education and research areas are envisaged within the FU's directions of growth.
Russian Academy of Sciences (RAS) <sup>13</sup>	RAS is the main basic research organisation in Russia. It maintains relations with almost all leading countries of Europe, America and Asia. The main forms of cooperation include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• joint research within the framework of interagency cooperation agreements,</li> <li>• implementation of intergovernmental agreements,</li> <li>• participation in international organisations (more than 50),</li> <li>• activities of international centres and laboratories.</li> </ul>

	RAS has a long tradition of researcher exchanges with a broad range of the EU MS and AC. RAS is the leading Russian research organisation which, similar to other academies of sciences in EU MS/AC, uses a small portion of its funds for the mobility of its researchers, mainly with partner academies.
Russian Foundation for Basic Research (RFBR) <sup>14</sup>	RFBR provides support to cover expenses related to the implementation of research projects, organisation of workshops, publication costs, and travel expenses. In its activity RFBR adheres to bottom-up principle and allows scientists great latitude in choosing research subjects and methods. RFBR provides financial resources for mobility. It assists researchers but not organisations by awarding grants on competitive base. Two types of grants for research mobility are available: for all age of scholars and young researchers. The competitive call "Mobility for Young Researchers" considers in the following areas: mathematics, mechanics and informatics; physics and astronomy; chemistry and sciences about materials; biology and medical sciences; Earth sciences; anthropological sciences; information technologies and processing systems; basics of engineering sciences.
Russian Foundation for Humanities (RFH) <sup>15</sup>	(RFH supports mobility of Russian researchers within its target areas of responsibility. From 1994-2008, RFH funded 29,061 scientific projects, among which 1,949 projects on the organization of scientific conferences, seminars, etc.; 1,035 projects on mobility; 1,922 projects on participation of Russian scholars in scientific actions abroad.
Fellowships of the President of the Russian Federation (annually)	An open public competition of the Ministry for Education and Science of the Russian Federation is carried out for the fellowships of the President of the Russian Federation annually. The stipends are awarded in fields of basic and applied research of higher priority for economic modernisation and technological development such as: energy efficiency; nuclear technologies and software; medical equipment and pharmaceuticals; space and telecommunications; culture and art. The scholarships envisage a secondment in host organisation up to 10 months.
Russian Private Funds supporting academic mobility of Russian fellows
The Foundation for education and science support (Alferov's Fund) <sup>16</sup> (established in 2001)	The Foundation undertakes a wide range of activities. It provides support to the systems of higher education (especially in the sphere of natural studies and physics), research, implemented by young Russian researchers, talented students and PhD students. One of the most important areas of the Fund's activity is support of the academic mobility of Russian the most talented young researchers.
The Dynasty Foundation <sup>17</sup> (established in 2002)	The Foundation is non-commercial organization, which provides social investments to support the fundamental science in Russia. It seeks out talented scientists, scholars, and educators to support their ideas and projects in the natural and social sciences. The Foundation also supports mobility activities of Russian grant-holders. Each year, the Foundation holds thirteen open grant competitions. In 2011, programs and projects budget accounted for USD9.6 million.

Potantin Charity Foundation <sup>18</sup> (established in 1999)	The main activities of the Foundation are promotion of the charity practices in Russia and support of the professionals. The most significant direction of the Fund's activity is supporting long-term grants and scholarships for the most talented students, PhD students and teachers of the leading state universities in Russia. Academic mobility of Russian scholars is one of the areas, supported within the projects.
The Mikhail Prokhorov Foundation (established in 2004) <sup>19</sup>	The Mikhail Prokhorov Foundation is a private charity launched in 2004 by the businessman Mikhail Prokhorov. The Foundation's priority is the support and development of new cultural institutions and initiatives in Russia, as well the promotion of Russian culture in the global intellectual community. The Foundation is also focused on academic and professional mobility to support research in cultural and academic institutions. <sup>20</sup>
Academic mobility support organisations, identified on the results of FP7 ERA.Net RUS project <sup>21</sup> questionnaire
Spanish National Research Council (CSIC) <sup>22</sup>	The CSIC supports researchers' mobility. The evaluation and the selection of researchers mobility projects is the same as in the other kind of projects as described above. The mobility programme is with certain countries.
Estonian Science Foundation <sup>23</sup> (established in 1991)	The Estonian Science Foundation (ETF) is an expert research-funding organization. Its main goal is to support the most promising research initiatives in all fields of basic and applied research. The Foundation actively supports international cooperation and mobility, which helps over 2000 professional researchers, as well as post-graduate and doctoral students at universities and research institutions to be involved into more than 650 ETF-funded projects.
The Ministry of Higher Education, S&T (Slovenia) <sup>24</sup>	The Ministry actively supports the international cooperation in education S&T. It ensures the policies formation for international cooperation with the EU Member States, neighboring countries, the West Balkan countries, non-European developed countries and countries of regional importance. It implements a wide range of programs, related to academic mobility.

Serbian Academy of Science and Art (SASA) <sup>26</sup>	International cooperation is one of the main activities and programme priorities of the Serbian Academy of Sciences and Arts. The cooperation is also realized through exchange of researchers within bilateral agreements on scientific cooperation (inter-academic, inter-institutional, as well as agreements at international level).
Research Council of Norway (RCN) <sup>27</sup>	The primary responsibility of the Council is enhancement of Norway's knowledge base and promotion of basic and applied research and innovation in order to help meet research needs within society. Among other goals the Research Council gives the priority to increasing the number of Norwegian researchers who spend time at R&D institutions abroad as well as the proportion of foreign researchers who carry out part of their research in Norway.
National Department for Scientific Research (ANCS, Romania) <sup>28</sup>	The Department is a part of the Romanian Education and Science Ministry. It is responsible for implementation, monitoring and assessment of the national policy in the field science and innovations. The department also supports academic mobility projects.
